

RED KOREANS SUFFER HEAVY WAR CASUALTIES

Rebounding from Reverses That Cost Them 11,100 Casualties in 3 Days

SMASH SOUTHWARD

Invaders Halted About One Dozen Miles From Goal

TOKYO, Aug. 21.—(INS)—North Korean troops, rebounding from reverses that cost them some 11,100 casualties in three days, smashed southward two and a half miles tonight in a strong new drive on strategic Taegu from the north.

But the invaders were halted about a dozen miles short of their goal by hard-fighting U. S. and South Korean forces in a heavy battle, the outcome of which still hung in the balance.

Thirteen miles southwest of Taegu, Communist reinforcements rammed across the Nakdong river into the enemy's Hyonpung bridgehead in an effort to develop a drive on the key city from that direction. A few miles farther south, however, U. S. Army combat patrols crossed the Nakdong to its west side in an attempt to learn what happened to the remnants of the enemy's fourth division, thrown out of the Changnyong bulge.

In the far south, augmented Red columns were incessantly assaulting American troops 45 miles west of the keystone port of Pusan.

But along the east coast another large Communist force was reeling back north from Pohang under a sustained onslaught by South Korean troops.

Tank-led North Korean columns unleashed their new attack toward Taegu from the north in an area along the right (east) flank of the U. S. army's famed 27th ("Wolfhound") regiment.

A dispatch from that sector, received in Tokyo at 7:42 Monday night (5:42 a. m. EDT), said the Red troops advanced 4,000 yards before they could be halted near Tabudong on the main highway from Kunwi down to Taegu.

The dispatch said the Reds struck where the 27th Regiment's right wing adjoins the left (west) flank of the South Korean First Division. The message said the South Koreans then checked the most successful enemy thrust in that sector since the American troops arrived there last Thursday.

As the fresh fighting raged, a spokesman at Gen. Douglas MacArthur's Tokyo headquarters said the enemy was striving desperately to mount what may be his last major offensive on any one of three fronts, but added:

"He just doesn't seem to have the punch left."

War developments, as of Monday afternoon, included:

South: An estimated two Communist regiments of the battered Sixth and the newly arrived Seventh North Korean divisions were attacking U. S. 25th division troops near the road center of Haman. The latter lies 45 air miles west-northwest of the all-important entry harbor of Pusan and nine miles southwest of the port of Masan.

Central: The North Korean Tenth Division was reported to have pushed two regiments across the Nakdong to the river's east bank at Hyonpung 13 air miles southwest of the vital hub of Taegu.

Platters Are Served At Shower Conclusion

Mrs. George Carleton, Roosevelt street, was the guest of honor at a shower given by Mrs. Lola Gallone at the latter's home, 330 Harrison street, on Thursday evening. The room was decorated with pink and blue streamers with balloons attached. A social time was concluded with serving of cold platters. Favors were small dolls and plastic forks and spoons.

The invitation list included: Mrs. Sandra Savati, Mrs. Mary Bobb, Mrs. Regatta Picciotti, Mrs. Dora Cordisco, Mrs. Jerry De Wilde, Mrs. Alice Kohler, Mrs. Rose Fioravanti, Miss Palma Savati, Miss Marie Marsaglia, Mrs. Dorothy Monte and Mrs. Eva Savati.

Activities of Interest To All In The Various Communities

CLEANED BY SCRIBES

The Rev. Robert E. Horne, pastor of St. Michael's Lutheran Church, Sellersville, has accepted a call to serve as pastor of Trinity Lutheran Church, Norristown.

The Rev. Mr. Horne's resignation as pastor of the Sellersville church has been received by the church council, a representative of which said no action has been taken because the Rev. Mr. Horne is on vacation. At present he is teaching at a Lutheran summer camp in the Pocono mountains.

The minister is expected to return to Sellersville the forepart of next month, when church officials will meet with him to discuss his resignation and to set a date on which it will become effective.

Mr. Horne will succeed Rev. Paul L. Yount as pastor of the Norristown church.

Merrill Rice, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Rice, of Sellersville, is undergoing treatment in Grand View Hospital there for a broken wrist, bruises of the chest, an injury to the knee, and cuts about the face and arms received when the car he was driving crashed into a light pole, at Sellersville, late one evening last week.

Rice, who will be a senior at Sell-Perk high school next month, was returning to his home from a youth conference in Blooming Glen when the accident took place.

James Schatz, of Sellersville police force, who arrived at the scene within minutes of the crash, said the youth was wedged in the cowl of the car with his head and shoulders hanging outside the auto. Rice was conscious and was able to give the officer his name and the telephone number of his home.

McNALLY AND SKWARLO ADD 800 POINTS TO SEASON'S TOTAL AS THEY WIN DOUBLE HEATS IN ANNUAL POWER BOAT REGATTA

Bud McNally and Al Skwarlo added 800 points to their season's total yesterday afternoon as they both won double heats at the first annual power boat regatta of the Bristol Yacht Club. The affair was held under the sanction of the Delaware River Yachtsmen's League.

McNally, a Columbia YC entry, piloted his Ken Ricky II to first place in both heats of the Class B outboard. With his speedy runabout he had no difficulty in winning both events.

Skwarlo, whose blue-colored "Mary Al" is getting to be a familiar sight here, won both heats of the inboard races. His time in the second heat was 12 seconds faster than he completed the first three laps of the first race.

Both McNally and Skwarlo led their races from the start and were never headed.

"By" Shannon, of Audubon, N. J., who races under the colors of the Paulsboro Yacht Club, ran into difficulty in the final lap of the Class C outboards. While rounding the upper buoy on the final lap, Shannon's motor suddenly knocked out. He was in second place at the time and before he could get started,

INVITE CHILDREN TO POLICE RODEO

Thousands of Boys and Girls To Attend State Police Rodeo

TO BE HELD AUG. 25TH

Thousands of boys and girls of school age invited to be guests of the Pennsylvania State Police at the rodeo to be held at Allentown the afternoon and evening of Friday, Aug. 25 are to be provided with bus and trolley transportation to the huge Allentown High School stadium and without cost to the youngsters.

Civic and patriotic organizations, labor groups and Service Club units in the area served by Troop D, State Police, Capt. Charles S. Cook commanding, at Bethlehem, are volunteering to engage the facilities required to get the children to and from the matinee performance.

Local public officials and police agencies in the cities, boroughs and townships of Lehigh, Northampton and Bucks Counties have assured Captain Cook and his aides of their cooperation in the formation of plans intended to take care of the army of youths. The utmost protection will be afforded.

Boys and girls eligible to take in the big show and at no cost will be asked to register at spots in their home sectors soon to be announced by Capt. Cook. Pupils in the first eight grades in the public, parochial and private schools will form this group. Getting a line on the number of juveniles, who can make the trip to the rodeo, will expedite the work of the committee a lot.

Hundreds of youngsters in the several orphanages in the Lehigh-Northampton-Bucks area will also be guests of the state troopers at

VANDALS DAMAGE PUMPING STATION

Cost of Damage is Estimated At Approximately $500

SHOOT KNOB OFF DOOR

Damage in the amount of $500 has been caused by vandals to the Borough's well pumping station, on the tract opposite Silver Lake, in the last several weeks, according to a statement of a borough official made this morning.

Latest work of these thoughtless persons was accomplished on Friday when two of the buildings housing pumps and other equipment were riddled with slugs from 22-calibre guns. In one case the doorknob was shot completely off, and in another a slug penetrated the building and struck and destroyed an instrument.

The grounds, which are regularly patrolled by borough police, will now be put under stricter surveillance, with both the township police officer, Joseph Seader, and borough police alerted to the apprehension of the vandals.

A ten-dollar reward has been offered by the Bristol Fish & Game Protective Association for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the person or persons guilty of the destruction.

Yardmen Go On Strike Today

Washington—Yardmen in three key mid-western freight terminals went on strike today in an effort to force nationwide wage gains for 200,000 railroad trainmen and conductors. The "token" walkout—to last five days—will be followed tomorrow by stoppages on two short-line railroads barring intervention in the dispute by President Truman. Today's strike halted freight shipments through Cleveland, Louisville and St. Paul but union officials declared that movement of passenger and mail trains would not be affected.

ANDALUSIA WEDDING IS OF INTEREST TO MANY

Miss Thelma Pressell and Richard Sware Take Their Vows

200 AT THE RECEPTION

ANDALUSIA, Aug. 21.—The Episcopal Church of the Redeemer, at the hour of four on Saturday, was the setting for the double ring ceremony which united in marriage Miss Thelma Pressell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer E. Pressell, Andalusia, and Mr. Richard Sware, son of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Bager, Bristol. The Rev. Harry Kaufman, Philadelphia, officiated.

On the arm of her father, the bride advanced to the flower-decked altar, wearing a costume of white satin. The illusion neckline was styled with white beads and shirred Chantilly lace at the base of the yoke, which completely surrounded the gown, extending to a point in front. Also featured were long tapered sleeves, a fitted bodice with button front and Chantilly lace surrounding the gathered waistline. The skirt was long and full, en-train. A fingertip veil of nylon net was attached to a beaded tiara. White satin slippers completed the costume. A double strand of pearls adorned her neck, and matching earrings were worn. A shower bouquet of white roses, baby breath and stephanotis was carried.

Mrs. Donald Loper, Newportville, matron of honor, was gownned in yellow nylon marquisette over taffeta. The costume was fashioned with an illusion neckline, yoke scalloped at top, cap sleeves scalloped at the base, fitted bodice and bouffant skirt. A matching picture hat, long white nylon gloves, and white kid slippers were also worn.

The bridesmaid, Miss Nancy Stroeen, Philadelphia, wore gown, hat, gloves and slippers styled

ONE MAN'S OPINION

By Walter Kiernan
(Distributed by International News Service)

Californians who are undecided how to vote in the election for Governor need give it no more thought . . . Mrs. Roosevelt has heard the call and will arrive from New York next month to advise them.

And the least California can do is send Governor Warren's family east to make up the Republican ticket for New York state.

At the moment New York city is preoccupied with selecting a mayor for a six year term which can be completed by a bright boy in eight months.

In this talent search the incumbent is giving no guidance . . . since last week O'Dwyer has been claiming diplomatic immunity from politics.

There is no real mystery about O'Dwyer's abdication . . . he hadn't been feeling good recently and the diplomatic appointment will put him on contact with Acheson who hasn't been feeling too good either.

But the Democrats do marvels with people taken off their sick beds . . . Carley was so weak there once, he hardly had the strength to sign his pardon application.

JUMPING THE COUNTRY

It is said that federal customs inspectors call the Polish American liner "Batory" the "Commie Ferry." The "Batory" last hit large size headlines some months ago when her skipper reported in by radio that he had a stowaway aboard. It turned out to be Berhart Eisler who had been at large under considerable bail. Eisler is very active in East Germany and the bailor is still holding the sack.

Anyhow, the "Batory" is a well watched ship. Under President Truman's new rule about keeping an eye out for possible "Trojan horse" ships, she is stopped and held in quarantine in New York harbor for a lengthy period now as a matter of course. The last time in she was inspected and passed. But her outboard trip was a different matter.

Several days ago the Batory's skipper got on the radio again. He said he had two stowaways. One came aboard, as stowaways traditionally do, while the ship was at her dock. But the other one came aboard under circumstances that make better reading than some of the cloak-and-dagger pocket editions.

It seems this man rented a small float plane, asked for a life preserver, and vanished over the horizon. As the Batory steamed along outboard, lo and behold, a small plane landed alongside. They got the pilot aboard and, of course, asked his name. First he said he was a Mexican. Later he gave another name and said he was an American.

The ultimate disposition of the pair of stowaway cases is somewhat cloudy. No one seems to be sure whether or not they are Reds desperately seeking a haven behind the Iron Curtain. But the fact remains they are jumping the country under suspicious circumstances.

Perhaps the State Department's recent order voiding the passport of Paul Robeson has touched off a migration from West to East. Wouldn't it be nice if the U. S. could get rid of the pests that easily?

ECHOES OF THE PAST

(By Courier Staff Member)

Review of the news as it appeared in the Bucks County Gazette issue dated at Bristol April 19, 1902. The Gazette, a weekly news paper published at Bristol, was discontinued following its merger with the Courier.

At the meeting of Good Will Hose Co., No. 3, held on Tuesday evening, it was decided to purchase a tower in which to place the new 600-pound bell recently purchased. The tower is to be constructed of galvanized iron and will be 40 feet in height. A committee was appointed to make arrangements for housing the new hose wagon which has been ordered and will be completed in about a month. It is very probable that the wagon will be housed and the bell put in service on the same day.

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT

Foolish To Falter

Washington, Aug. 21. In the last three weeks the extraordinary conduct of Mr. Jacob Malik, Soviet representative at the United Nations and now presiding over its Security Council, has had one certain effect. A few months ago Mr. Herbert Hoover suggested that the only way to save the United Nations from completely farcical futility was to reorganize, leaving Russia and her subversive satellites out. A good many then thought that was too drastic a step. Now, a considerable number have changed their minds.

Before the Korean invasion (when the Hoover suggestion was made) as a result of constant and prolonged Russian recalcitrancy the United Nations was in a state of almost suspended animation, unable, because of the veto, to take any constructive step toward the great goal of permanent peace. Everybody agreed this was true. The whole non-Communist world resented it. However, various arguments from those who should have known better were made. We must keep Russia in because she might have a change of heart. To throw her out would make it more difficult to negotiate. To provoke her might precipitate the final catastrophe of a general war. It will not do to isolate her. For the sake of its noble aims the United Nations must be kept intact, etc., etc.

Well, look at it now! Its position is pitiful and ridiculous. It mortifies and angers the representatives of the free nations of the world. It irritates and battles the people as a whole. It is impossible to take it seriously. The pious hopes so often enunciated have been obviously hollow ever since, four years ago, the Soviets first revealed the fact they were not there to negotiate or agree on anything—rather the reverse. Today, of course, these hopes sound simply silly. Today the United Nations, whose basic purpose is to outlaw war and crush aggression, is rendered static by a nation the basic purpose of which is just the opposite, which, in defiance of the charter, probably has inspired war in Korea and whose long list of aggressions is documented and undeniable.

For three weeks its Security Council has been humiliated, compelled to listen to the violent tirades of the representative of this nation, Mr. Malik, whose offensive, insulting and mendacious language has not been equalled in any parliamentary body at any time. For three weeks, as someone recently said, this man has vehemently insisted that "war is peace, that self-defense is aggression, that night is day and black is white." This insult to the intelligence by a presumably intelligent man has been an amazing spectacle. In light of the incontrovertible facts it is the most brazen and impudent performance on record. Utterly ignoring the truth, it brushes aside the data gathered by the United Nations Commission to Korea, such as the presence of Russian officers training the North Korean Army, the equipment of that army with tanks, artillery and supplies, and the flat Russian refusal to permit the commission to make its investigation.

There is ample evidence in possession of the United Nations to convict the Soviets of instigating war and planning aggression. Upon this evidence it could be expelled and its ability to frustrate, stultify and nullify ended. No informed man can possibly entertain today any doubt that the Russian purpose is not international co-operation and peace but the conquest of the world, the domination and destruction of every non-Communist country. Surely, the continued membership in the United Nations of this nation is worse than an absurdity. Officially and formally through our President and Secretary of State we have branded her as an aggressor and we have denounced communism as a deadly menace to the free world. At all intents and purposes we are at war with it.

We are spending a hundred million of dollars telling the rest of the world of the evil nature of the Russian purpose and the vicious character of her propaganda. We appropriate billions of dollars to arm ourselves against the third world war we believe she plans. We proclaim in Senate speeches, newspaper editorials and radio pronouncements that, because of this nation, we are today in greater peril than ever we have been before. Because of her we are about to impose tremendously increased taxes upon our people and add dangerously to the national debt. Under the circumstances and considering our experience of the past five years, it seems worse than folly to permit this nation to remain in the United Nations, to whose purposes it is utterly opposed and which it deliberately prevents from functioning.

What sense does it make to keep playing this game? Is there anything to be gained by further appeasement and tolerance? What additional risk will be incurred by firm action to end an intolerable state of affairs? The longer we wait the harder it is going to be to get off the hook—the more opportunities for the Soviets to use the United Nations to further their plans and thwart the desire for peace in the hearts of people everywhere. Clearly they do not fit into the family of nations. Clearly they ought to be barred until they become so. It is foolish to falter. At least the coarse and contemptuous Mr. Malik has made all this a little plainer.

WHAT TO DO IF AN ATOM-BOMB HITS

WASHINGTON — Five years down to the conclusion that in general, structures designed to resist earthquakes are the best. The 456-page volume gives the low-down on the known or possible effects of A-bombs bursting in the air, on and beneath the ground, and at shallow and deep depths beneath the sea. It reaches the conclusion that the air-burst type is the most widely destructive.

Without mentioning the hydrogen bomb, it pointed out that the damaging effects are increased as the energy of any atomic bomb goes up—although not in direct proportion. But it said that "fears are groundless" that atomic explosions could ever contaminate the whole world with radioactivity.

It also discussed the pros and cons of "radiological warfare"—the possible use of radioactive poisons as a weapon distinct from either the A-bomb or the H-bomb—but indicated that studies on this subject are still inconclusive. It told of medical measures designed to treat atomic casualties. Medical experts declared that people who survive the initial blast and its immediate effects have a good chance of recovery even though injured. The measures are standard practices utilized for the treatment of burns and other injuries.

Officials said there is no specific treatment against "radiation sickness" but that drugs like aureomycin and penicillin offer much promise of combating secondary infections that can accompany it. The book also outlined methods for combating the contamination of people, houses, city streets, water supplies and other things with radioactive materials resulting directly or indirectly from an atomic explosion.

Here are highlights: 1. If you think that radioactive dirt or other particles have been deposited on your skin, rub vigorously with soap and water. In a dire emergency, such things as paper, straw, grass, leaves or sand will remove the radioactive substances from the skin if applied with vigor. Any materials used, though, must later be disposed of—such as by burial—because they will be radioactive.

(In an area heavily contaminated by radioactivity, people would have to leave until the radiations had subsided to a safe level. However, they might also come and go for periods limited so as not to get an overdose of radiation.) 2. If paved streets are contaminated, flushing with water—perhaps with the aid of strong detergents, street cleaning, or vacuum sweeping—might be the first steps. 3. Contaminated soil on parks and lawns might be dealt with by turning the soil over. 4. Properly covered foods, canned goods or any materials in dust-proof wrappings should undergo little or no contamination. But there seems to be no feasible means for salvaging unprotected food.

Certain procedures commonly used for the purification of water supplies should aid in decreasing contamination. In case of doubt, outright distillation of suspected water should make it fit to drink. That was found true at Bikini, site of A-bomb tests. But, note: More boiling of water is of no value.

6. Plastic paints and other easy-to-remove coverings offer means of protecting surfaces from contamination. The materials removed would then have to be disposed of.

Religion in a Child's Life

By GARRY CLEVELAND MYERS, Ph.D.

MANY a youth entering the Armed Forces is going to take a powerful armor with him—a spiritual armor against a godless foe. For years his parents and other persons who have held high those values which endure have been helping this youth cast and shape his armor.

What our country needs, what every one of the United Nations needs, is more spiritual striving. This spiritual striving is already symbolized in the concerted rush to the defense of other nations whose freedom has been threatened. As we make more sacrifices to this end the spiritual necessity becomes more real and apparent.

A Working Religion

Never has there been a time when genuine religion is so greatly needed. It's the time when you and I should rejoice to see so many other people worshipping God both in church and in their homes, no matter how much their ways of worshipping may differ from our own. We develop the best spiritual values for ourselves and through these values give most to our community, nation and the United Nations, as we feel and show appreciation for the spiritual strivings of other persons.

Now's the time for us to work harder at our religion, to go to church in order to get our own spiritual dynamo recharged, and to live our religion at home so abundantly as to prove to our children that our religion makes us better persons. If we want to encourage our children to cultivate spiritual values, we must prove to them that these spiritual values are worthy of being chosen.

Good Examples

Parents who have sons soon eligible for the Armed Forces should feel, it seems to me, a strong urge to improve their own inner lives. If we are already active religiously we should work harder in this direction. If we have grown indifferent and neglectful, we have good reason to resume our spiritual interests, not just for ourselves but also for our children, our nation and the United Nations.

Those parents, especially those with teen-age sons, who have felt and seen no values in religion, might well look into such again at this time. Perhaps some of these parents are really very religious at heart. Perhaps they live on a very lofty plane. Yet they might increase their good influence by getting back of some organized faith or church. So it seems to me, though I may be wrong, of course. We and our nation should be grateful for the spiritual contributions of any person or group, regardless of the particular ways they choose.

I think we all agree that we want to equip our youths with a spiritual armor, one that can't be pierced, shattered or destroyed. Whether our children are babes in arms or youths donning the uniform of the Armed Forces, we parents are the chief architects of the spiritual armor they need.

★ WITH A FRIENDLY FIREPLACE ★

By JOAN O'SULLIVAN

NO doubt about it, a fireplace enhances a home. It's the center of interest in any room providing, as it does, a spot where people can gather in friendly, informal groups.

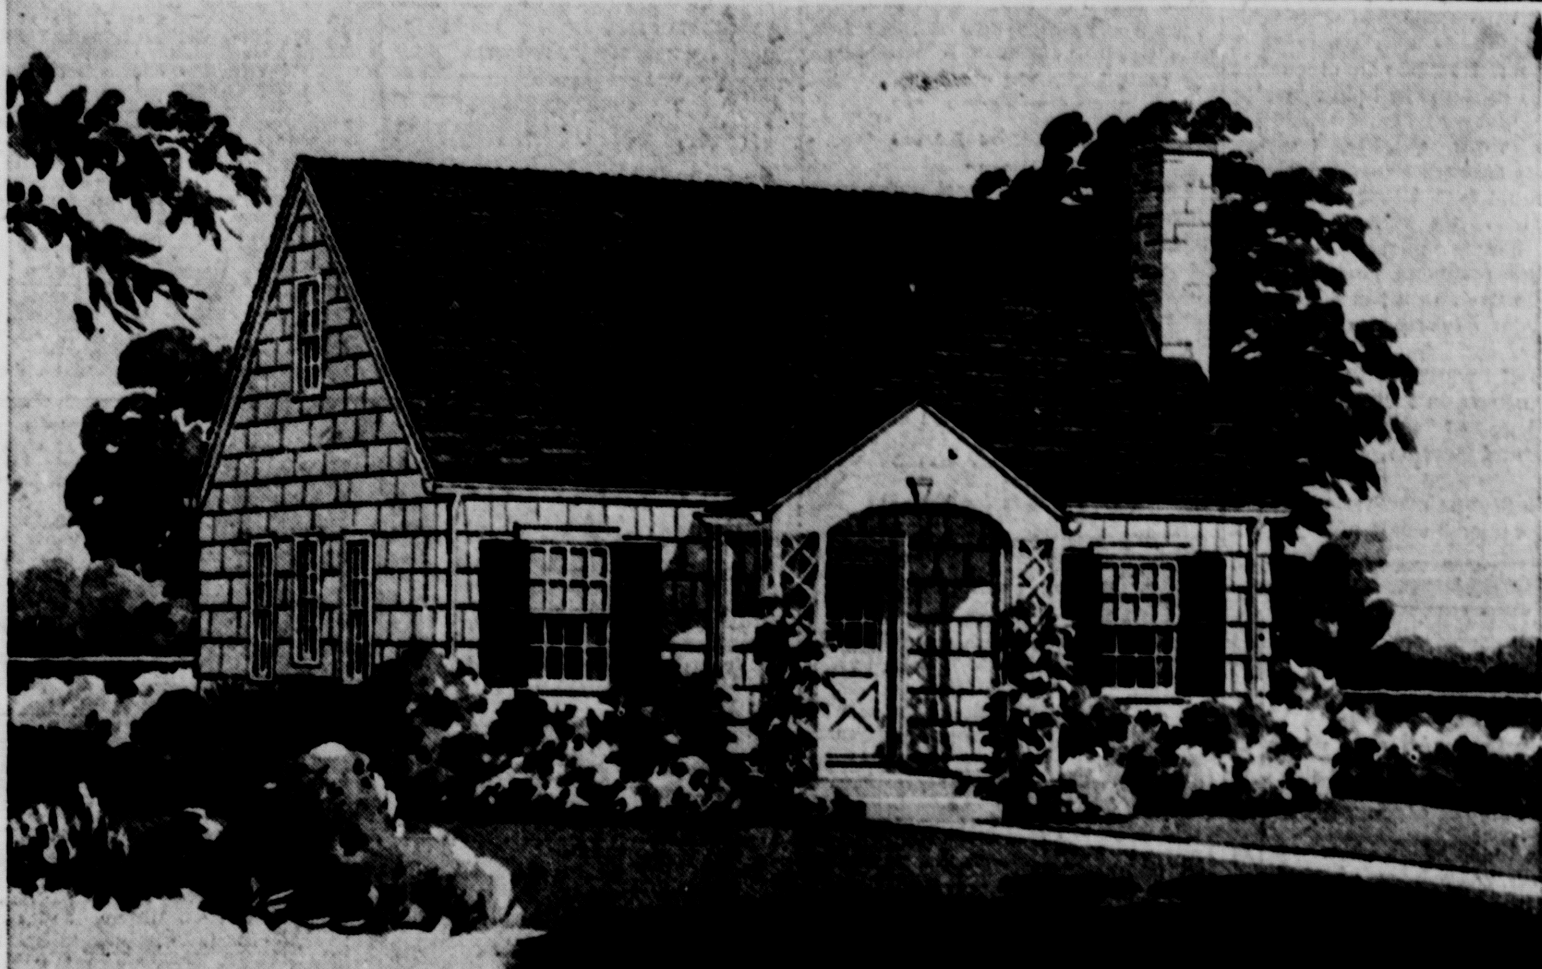

The Colonial fireplace featured in today's house is a particularly attractive combination of brick and wood. The mantel, of course, is a decorator's delight, because it offers the ideal spot for showing off candlesticks, clocks, figurines or any number of other smart accessories. And the fireplace itself is decorative. In the cold winter months the glowing embers give a friendly warmth to the living room. In summer you can dress up the hearth with pots of ivy or attractive floral arrangements.

The good-sized living room has three windows—two on either side of the fireplace, an effective arrangement. A short hallway leads to the dinette, which is next to the kitchen. The layout of these three rooms is ideal for entertaining.

Both bedrooms are on the other side of the house, with only a doorway connecting them to living quarters. This plan is appropriate for people with children, who want to entertain evenings when the small fry are asleep.

Here's another home that's an investment in the future. Rooms can always be added in the large attic space.

Double coursed wall shingles cover the exterior of the house, giving added protection and warmth. Room ceilings are 8 feet high; 7 feet high in the cellar. The house comprises 18,300 cubic feet.

HERE'S A HOUSE that has the air of a restful haven. The simple design is one which would be effective in any locality. There's a friendly quality about the porch with its pretty latticework. Double coursed wall shingles cover the exterior, giving added protection.

An information sheet giving sketches and diagrams, which will enable you to judge whether this is the house for you, is available. Send a self-addressed stamped envelope to this newspaper for the name and address of the firm from which this sheet may be obtained. Ask for "The Oakley." To arrive at a general estimate of the construction cost of this house, ascertain construction costs per cubic foot in your locality, then multiply this by the number of cubic feet given here. The result should be within 10 per cent either way of the cost.

Identically to those of the matron of honor, in Nile green nylon marquisette. A sister of the bride, Miss Isabella Pressell served as junior bridesmaid. Her gown was of pink nylon marquisette patterned with a scalloped neckline, bertha collar, fitted bodice and bouffant skirt. She wore a pink picture hat, long white nylon gloves and white kid slippers. The three attendants wore bouquets of pink roses.

Mr. Donald Loper, Newportville, served as best man. Mr. George Matey, New York, N. Y., cousin of the bridegroom, was the usher.

Miss Hester Wright, Eddington, rendered organ melodies.

The choice of Mrs. Pressell, mother of the bride, was a toast brown lace dress over taffeta, with black hat and accessories. Mrs. Bauer, mother of the bridegroom, selected a poudre blue sheer dress, blue slippers, black hat and accessories. Both wore orchid corsages.

For her wedding trip to Atlantic City, N. J., the former Miss Pressell chose a suit of navy gabardine, white blouse, navy hat, slippers and accessories, and white topper. She wore a corsage of white roses.

The bridal couple graduated from Bensalem township high school. Mrs. Sware is employed at Andalusia post office. Mr. Sware works for Thomas L. Leedom Co., Bristol. The bride's gift to her attendants were tear-drop rhinestone crosses. The bridegroom presented the best man and usher with alligator-grained wallets on which their names were imprinted.

A reception took place at Eddington Farms with 200 attending. The newly-weds will reside in an apartment on Williams street, Cornwells Heights.

Large Dairy Barn Swept By Flames Near Roebling

BURLINGTON, Aug. 21—A fire reportedly started by a drunken farm hand swept through a large dairy farm outside of Roebling yesterday destroying several buildings and burning a big store of hay.

Firemen from several companies around the Burlington area battled the flames for nearly four hours after the call was received at around 6:30 p. m. When they left sometime after 10 the fire was still smoldering.

George Jansen, chief of the Burlington fire company, said that a hired hand who had left the farm the week before returned last night intoxicated and dropped a lighted cigar or cigarette in a haystack, it is thought.

About a dozen pieces of apparatus were sent to the scene. Responding were companies from Burlington, Bordentown, Columbus and other localities.

Saturday Wedding Occurs At Cornwells Heights

CORNWELLS HEIGHTS, Aug. 21—Two graduates of Bensalem township high school were united in matrimony at half after three on Saturday in the rectory of St. Charles R. C. Church, here. They are Miss Ruth Luciana, daughter of Mrs. Helen Luciana; and Mr. John Brucks, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. John Brucks. The Rev. Charles McDevitt officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The bride's white costume featured an illusion neckline, scalloped yoke with ruching leading to the shoulders. The fitted bodice, button back, and long tapered sleeves, were of lace and the skirt was of marquisette with apron effect in front, full back with bustle ending in a short train. A spangled sweetheart tiara was attached to a three-tier veil of net. White suede slippers were also worn. White roses, carnations and gladioli, encased in a collar of lace, formed the bridal bouquet.

The maid of honor, Miss Beatrice Bertotti, Philadelphia, was attired in a gown of yellow, fashioned with an off-the-shoulder neckline and fitted bodice of lace. The top of the long full skirt which fell from a gathered waistline was of lace, with the lower half being composed of net. A matching sweetheart tiara with bow in back, lace mitts and white slippers were also worn. She carried a bouquet of tallman roses, yellow carnations and gladioli.

Mr. William Brucks served his brother as best man.

A dress of champagne tone crepe with matching hat, white gloves and black slippers was the choice of Mrs. Luciana, mother of the bride. Mrs. Brucks, mother of the bridegroom, selected a dress of grey satin with black hat and matching accessories. Both wore corsages of pink roses.

For her wedding trip to Niagara Falls, N. Y., and parts of Canada, the former Miss Luciana chose a dress of navy chiffon over taffeta styled with a collar, short sleeves, bodice with tucks, button in front, and street-length, full skirt. White slippers, matching hat and gloves completed the costume.

A reception took place at the residence of the bride's mother with 125 attending. Mrs. Brucks, Jr., is employed by the Pennsylvania Manufacturing Co., Philadelphia. Mr. Brucks, Jr., is a student at Spring Garden Institute of Technology, Phila., where he is studying mechanical drawing. He also is employed at a gasoline service station in Eddington.

The newly-weds will reside on Finley road.

It is stated that Uerkvitz had pulled out from an intersection (413R), and was traveling in the lane close to the center of the highway, and as he attempted to pull to the outer lane he was struck by the Shideler car. There were no injuries, and damage to the vehicles is listed at $300. Shideler was arrested for reckless driving.

A crash occurred on Newtown-Richboro road, one mile west of Newtown, at 11:30 last night. State police records show that Charles C. Quarles, 53, of Swamp road, Newtown, had arrived at his driveway west of Newtown, and had stopped to make a turn. A car driven by Lester A. Balderston, 18, Newtown road, was travelling east toward Newtown. The Balderston car swerved to the right and side-swiped the Quarles car, with damage resulting to Quarles fender, and to the entire left side of the Balderston machine. There were no injuries.

NEWS OF INTEREST TO PA. FARMERS

By Al Spivak

Dr. Hubert W. Frings, Associate Professor of Entomology, has been studying susceptibility of mice to induced fits at different sound intensities.

He has been assisted by his wife in the experiments which have been under way for two years under sponsorship of the U. S. Air Force. Main purpose of the study is to determine whether high-intensity sound waves can injure humans.

However, part of the research is to place mice in a wire cage which is set inside of a sound-proof box. Through a window, actions of the mice can be observed.

A shrill, whining noise at a frequency of 10,000 cycles per second is set off by pressing a button, according to Frings. The sound throws the mice into an epileptic-like fit, resuming normality when the sound ceases.

Frings says that few mice will care to remain in buildings exposed to intense sounds such as those being used in the study. He adds that this might provide a new method of driving them from farms.

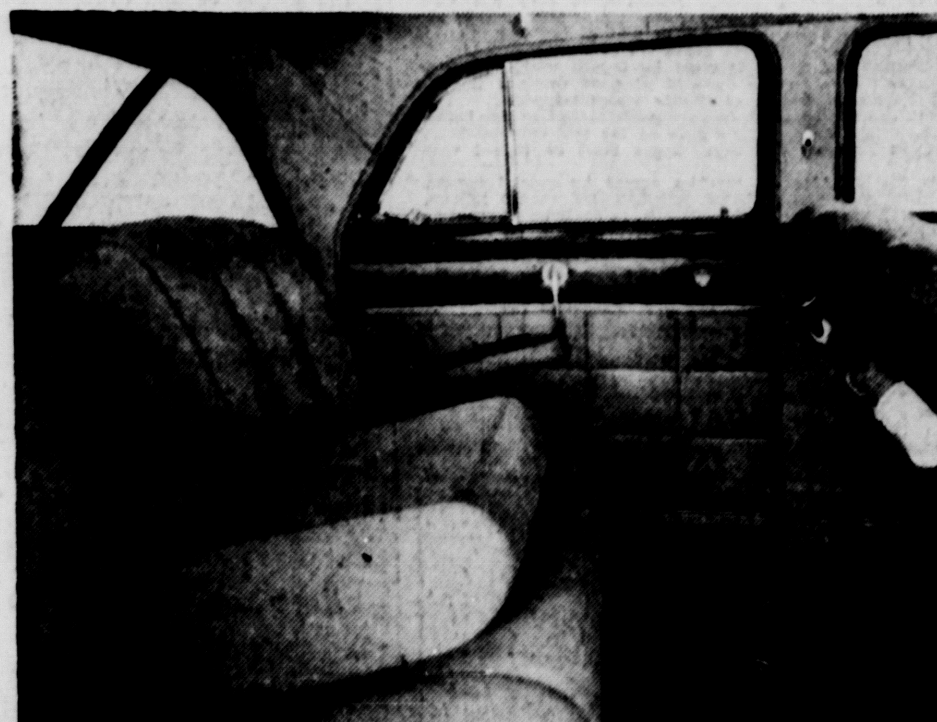

Increasing numbers of Pennsylvania farmers are reported turning to grassland farming in line with recommendations of the Agricultural Conservation Program of the U. S. Production and Marketing Administration.

The huge toll in soil fertility exacted by corn leads to encouragement of grass as a soil conservator. Agricultural experts say that grass silage contains high amounts of protein, vitamins and minerals, enabling a reduction in the content of grain feed being used.

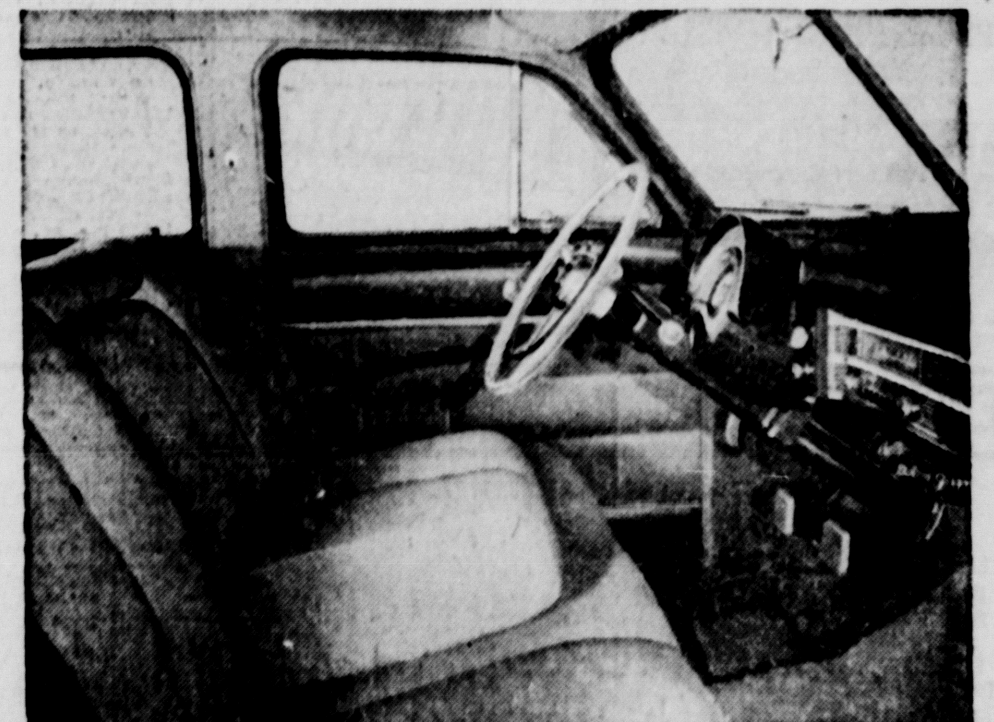

Grass silage will not provide as much energy for cows as will corn silage because of a high carbohy-

PEACHES POPULAR; PEAK OF CROP TO BE IN LATE AUGUST

By Frances Vannoy

Home Economics Extension Rep.

Flavor, color, and versatility make the peach a popular fruit with most families. Although the 1950 national peach crop is estimated at nearly 20 million bushels less than last year, the Pennsylvania crop is expected to reach two and a quarter million bushels.

The peak of the State crop of peaches is expected the latter part of August so do not wait too long before you get your supply of peaches for canning.

Select good quality fruit for canning. Scald peaches, then dip in cold water to peel easily. A square of cheesecloth is excellent to hold peaches during the scalding and cooling. Cut peaches in halves or slices, using stainless steel knife. Pack halves, hollow side down, in jars, overlapping the pieces for a full pack. Cover peaches with boiling hot sirup (1 cup sugar to 2 cups water). Put lids in place and process 25 minutes in boiling water bath.

If you work quickly, peaches should not darken. However, if you have trouble put sliced or halved peaches into hot sirup and heat through before packing. Adding one-quarter teaspoon powdered ascorbic acid to one pint of sirup will help prevent darkening of fruit on top of jar.

You will want to use fresh peaches often, but if the family shows signs of tiring of sliced peaches and cream, try peach mousse.

Prepare 2 cups crushed peaches; stir in 1/4 teaspoon salt and 1/4 to 1 cup confectioners' sugar. Soak 1 1/2 teaspoons gelatin in 2 tablespoons cold water; dissolve in 1/4 cup boiling water. Add 2 tablespoons lemon juice. Stir this into peach mixture. Whip 2 cups cream until stiff; fold into peaches. Freeze in refrigerator tray. Make six servings.

Dried Beef Oven Dish

Looking for a different casserole? Here's an unusual combination of dried beef, potatoes and eggs. To prepare, alternate layers of sliced cooked potatoes, sliced hard-cooked eggs and finely chopped onion with dried beef. Pour a medium cream sauce over the layers and sprinkle with grated American cheese. Bake in a moderate oven until the cheese is melted and browned.

400 Attend Reception After Wedding at Cornwells Heights

CORNWELLS HEIGHTS, Aug. 21.—The strains of the Lohengrin wedding march were rendered on Saturday at the hour of three in St. Charles' R. C. Church, when Miss Marie Price, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Augustus J. Price, Eddington, walked toward the flower-decked altar on the arm of her father. There she took the vows which united her in marriage to Mr. Bernard Urbanski, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Urbanski, Philadelphia. The Rev. John L. Nugent officiated at the double ring ceremony.

A creation of white organdy over tulle with a regal neckline, fitted bodice with buttons in front, and double collar, was the choice of the bride. The sleeves of the costume were three-quarter length, with double cuffs, and the skirt was long and full, entrain. Also worn were a three-quarter length veil of nylon net attached to a head band of lace, trimmed with tiny white flowers around the top and with clusters at the sides; white kid love knot slippers and gloves of nylon net. An arm bouquet of calla lilies, with white satin streamers attached, was carried.

Miss Rose Machain, Philadelphia, the maid of honor was attired in an orchid gown of organdy, patterned with a round neckline, short puffed sleeves, fitted bodice and long full skirt gathered at the waistline in three sections. To complete the costume she wore an orchid picture hat, matching gloves of nylon net and silver slippers. Orchid satin ribbons were attached to a shower bouquet of red roses.

A sister of the bride, Miss Bernadette Price, was bridesmaid. She wore a sleeveless model of Nile green organdy fashioned with a V-neckline, stand-up collar, fitted bodice and long bouffant skirt. A matching picture hat, nylon net gloves and silver slippers were also worn. She carried a bouquet of yellow roses with green streamers to match the costume.

Miss Catherine Thomas, Philadelphia, a cousin of the bride was second bridesmaid. With yellow as the chosen color, she was dressed in an identical costume, hat gloves and slippers as those of the bride's sister. The bouquet was of red roses with matching streamers.

Mr. Edward Urbanski, Philadelphia, served his brother as best man. The ushers were Messrs. Joseph Di Mascio and Joseph Nichols, Philadelphia. Organ melodies were rendered by Mrs. R. McCarthy, Audubon. Miss Teresa Colahan, Philadelphia, sang "Ave Maria" and "Mother At Thy Feet Is Kneeling." During the singing of the latter selection, the bride dedicated her bouquet to the church.

quiet at the feet of the Blessed Virgin, after which she walked down the aisle carrying a white prayer book on which reposed a purple-lipped white orchid.

The choice of the bride's mother, Mrs. Price, was a dress of brown crepe, brown hat and matching accessories. Mrs. Urbanski, mother of the bridegroom, selected a variegated rayon print dress, matching hat and black accessories. Both wore corsages of yellow tea roses.

For her wedding trip to Wildwood, N. J., the former Miss Price chose a suit of blue-grey gabardine, white blouse, small blue velvet hat, matching handbag, slippers and gloves. She wore an orchid corsage.

A reception took place in St. Charles' hall immediately following the ceremony, with 400 attending. Mrs. Urbanski is a graduate of the John W. Hallahan Catholic girls' high school, Philadelphia. Mr. Urbanski graduated from the North-east High School, in the same city.

The bride's gifts to her attendants were rhinestone necklaces and matching earrings. The bridegroom presented the best man and ushers with cigarette lighters. The newlyweds will reside in Philadelphia.

Rope Maker

Of the millions of feet of rope that "Pete" Rossi has helped make during the past 43 years, many thousands have been bought by Bell Telephone. You may have seen some of this rope being used by telephone linemen, right in your own neighborhood.

Other Pennsylvania-made products, too, are used daily... in large quantities... by the telephone industry. Bell Telephone purchases help provide work and wages for skilled men and women in some 2,000 companies, large and small, in more than 200 Pennsylvania communities.

Any way you look at it, the successful operation of the telephone business means a great deal to the steady employment of a great many Pennsylvanians, both in and out of the telephone industry.

EDDIE SAWYER IS LIKED TO FAMED FRANK MERRIWELL

When Eddie Sawyer first took over as manager of the now pennant-bound Philadelphia Phillies, a rival national League pilot warned, "look out—here comes Frank Merriwell!" and here he comes. Following is the last in a series of six articles by INS on the startling Phils.

By John McCafferty
INS Sports Writer
PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 21 — INS — That well-known character Cindarella, who plays all sports, had her fairy godmother, and this year's Philadelphia Phillies have a fairy godfather, complete with a battalion of unsung selves and the customary magic wand.

You cannot overlook manager-manager Eddie Sawyer and his quiet, talented staff of coaches in the transformation of the long-happless Phils into the team to beat in the National League this year.

Just where Edwin Mulby Sawyer learned his voodoo no one seems to know. They do not have sessions for sorcerers at Ithaca College, where he once taught biology, of all things.

At any rate, the mild-mannered pilot began using his mystic powers long before he became the Phil's manager. During his nine years as a minor league manager, Sawyer's spell brought three pennants and seven playoff berths.

The former college outfielder, whose first occupation inside a big league ballpark was succeeding Ben Chapman as Phil's manager two years ago, apparently began boiling his wonder-herbs soon after he began managing the Phils' Utica farm club in 1943.

For it was here, and later at Toronto, another farm team, that Sawyer came in contact with many of his present-day whiz kids.

His job was to make major league ballplayers out of green but eager youngsters like Richie Ashburn, Puddin'head Jones, Gran Hamner, Ralph Caballero, Stan Lopata and Bubba Church. A casual glance at the upper portion of the National League's current individual statistics will demonstrate how Sawyer made out.

Nevertheless, when Eddie was named manager of the parent club in mid-season of 1948, he was glad to see the likes of Benny Bengough, Cy Perkins, Dusty Cooke and Maje McDonnell on his new coaching staff. For Perkins and the roundish Bengough both were great catchers in their day, and wise handlers of pitchers. Cooke had eight years' big league experience as an outfielder and newcomer McDonnell was just what Sawyer needed in the way of a batting practice pitcher.

Sawyer, who once replied to an eager question, "I favor the kind of baseball my players can play," gathered his new aides in a huddle. There was work to be done, and it started with the young pitchers.

One of them, Robin Roberts, won 15 games last year as the inspired Phil finished third, highest point for a Phil team since 1917.

Another, left-hander Curt Simmons, who cost the Phils $65,000 in bonus money, found himself coaxed along to the point where he flared like a rocket this year and became one of baseball's finest pitchers.

Sawyer, who has bawled out his players only once—last year, after which they reeled off six straight victories—has applied equal patience to all of his young players.

And now Mr. Sawyer and his brisk young men are approaching something not realized in Phillies history for 35 starving years.

They call it the payoff.

ST. ANN'S TO PLAY ATWOOD TONIGHT

St. Ann's A. A. will be in action on Memorial Park field this evening as it meets the Atwood A. C. team in a Trenton Industrial League tilt, starting at six o'clock.

Atwood is in third place in the circuit right behind the Micharski contingent. The "Saints" are still on top of the loop and after this evening's contest will have but three more games to play. Wednesday evening St. Ann's plays the Pirates at home.

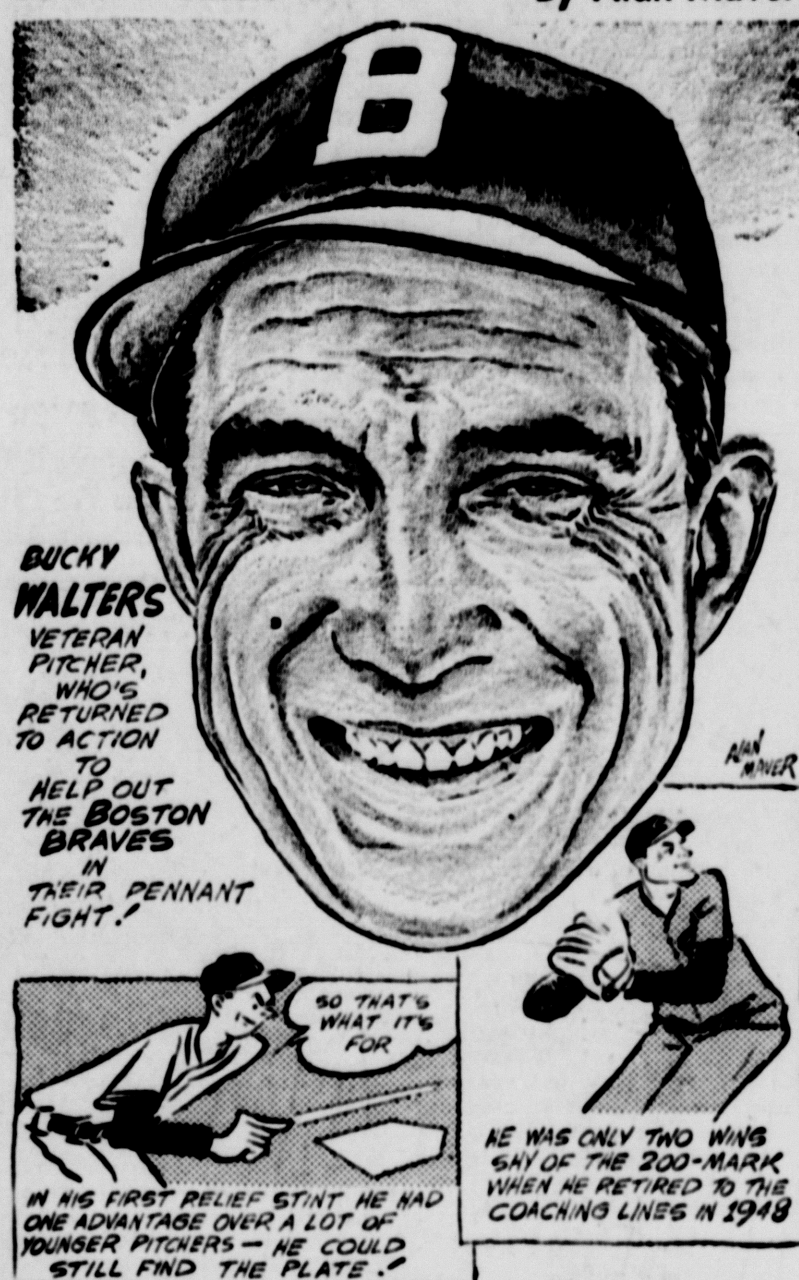

Either "Art" Green or Paul Leigh-on will toe the slab for the Bristol team. Manager "Spike" Scordia hopes that either of these boys will have the stuff that Dave Muth had last Friday evening when he subdued the Micharski team.

Joe Elmer will be behind the plate for the Wood Streeters. "Jim" Clark, former Rutgers University hurler, will be on the hill for Atwood, with DeBoskey doing the receiving.

FOOTBALL CANDIDATES TO MEET

All candidates for the Bristol High football team are urged to attend an important meeting this evening at eight o'clock in the high school building. Coach Harry McClester is anxious to see all candidates present. Arrangements will be made for the opening of the football practice sessions.

MORRELL PITCHES CROYDON TO WIN OVER HARRIMAN

"Jimmy" Morrell seemed to have everything on the ball yesterday afternoon as he hurled the Croydon A. C. to a shutout victory over the Harriman A. C. in the opening game of the final playoff series of the Bristol Youth League. Final score of the tilt played on Memorial Park field was: Croydon, 3; Harriman, 0.

Morrell gave the Harriman team but three hits and did not give up a safety until the fourth. In fact only one of the first 13 batters to face him reached base and that was the result of a walk.

FLEETWING ESTATES

Miss Joy Hunt, North Plainfield, N. J., is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Donovan Fagans, for a few days.

On Thursday evening, a commercial demonstration was held at the home of Mrs. John J. O'Grady. Present were: Mrs. Charles Ramer, Mrs. Kenneth Davis and Mrs. Stafford Caldwell, Bristol township; Mrs. Robert Hanson, Mrs. George LaRue, Mrs. Roland Webb, Mrs. George Kemmerer, Mrs. Richard Little, Mrs. William Smith, Mrs. Eugene Faniel, Mrs. James Ritter and Mrs. William Walp, Fleetwing Estates. Refreshments of gelatin, whipped with ice-cream, cookies, coffee and tea, were served after the demonstration.

PENNDL
A family picnic session is arranged by the Kiwanis Club of Bucks County Lincoln Highway for tomorrow evening at 6:30 at the Pennel Recreation Center, South Hulmeville avenue, Frank Sodano is in charge of arrangements, and there will be sports and refreshments for members and their families.

Announcement has been made of the engagement of Miss Marjorie Carla Claassen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl F. Claassen, to Mr. Earl Schlachter, of Newtown. The wedding will take place in December.

FIRST OF FINALS IN CHURCH LEAGUE GAMES TONIGHT

Either Bensalem Methodist A. A. or Bristol Presbyterian — the two teams involved in the final series of playoffs in the Lower Bucks County Church Softball League — will establish for the first time a feat that no team has heretofore been able to accomplish. The first game will be played tonight.

Having won 18 out of 21 games during the regular season to cop the league trophy, Bensalem hopes to make a clean "sweep" by also grabbing the Louis Hartman Memorial Trophy, which is symbolic of the league champion for the season. However, Bristol Presbyterian, the team that was Bensalem's stumbling stone in their effort to win the same title last year, is once again the opposition with which the pennant winners have to cope.

And Presbyterian has no mean accomplishment to achieve themselves as last year's champions, they hope to repeat—a feat never yet established in the church league.

POSTPONE RACE
The scheduled running of the 100-mile National modified stock car championship race at Langhorne Speedway yesterday was postponed due to threatening weather. The race has been re-scheduled for September 24th.

McNally and Skwarlo Win
Double Heats in Regatta

The best time of the afternoon for outboards, Joe Davis, of West End, was second with Hi Mac, ridden by Bob McMillan, third.

McMillan broke his steering cable while rounding the last turn and for a while lost control of the outboard. He almost crashed with another entry but finally managed to steer his boat to the course and come in third.

The starters and timers for the events were Tom Nasuti and Elmer Logan while the scorers were Mrs. Peggy Logan and Mrs. Virginia McNally.

The Bucks County Rescue Squad ambulance with several crew members was on hand for any emergency.

NEW CHAMPION EXPECTED TO BE AT LANGHORNE

A new titleholder is expected to be crowned when the 100-mile National championship motorcycle race is staged at Langhorne Speedway on Sunday, Sept. 3, as the climax of a two-day extravaganza.

Only one rider, Ed Kretz, Monterey, Calif., has been able to repeat a title triumph in the century classic, which has been decided over the Bucks county oval, fastest one-mile dirt track in the world, eleven times.

The series was inaugurated in 1935. Woodsie Castanquay, Springfield, Mass., won that year. Lester Hilbish took the title in 1936 and the following season Kretz scored the first of four victories. It was Kretz again in 1938, 1940 and 1948.

Robert Sparks was the 1939 winner and Tom Hayes triumphed in 1941, the last 100-mile championship staged at Langhorne before the Second World War caused a four-year lapse. Johnny Speigle-hoff won when competition was resumed in 1946. Ed Guill won in 1947 and last year Jimmy Chann, Bridgeton, N. J., took the crown.

The Sept. 2-3 racing program, sanctioned by the American Motorcycle Association, will be conducted under auspices of the Middle Atlantic Motorcycle Dealers Association. A record number of entries, probably 400 or more riders, has induced MAMDA officials to make the meet a two-day affair for the first time.

A nine-event card is listed for Saturday, Sept. 2, starting with qualifying time trials at 12 noon. The first racing event on Sunday, Sept. 3, is listed for 2 p. m., with the 100 classic to get underway at 3:30. In the event of threatening weather, the feature will be advanced. Three amateur title finals and a 10-mile consolation for non-qualifying experts also are scheduled Sunday.

West End YC, 6:23; 5. Betts II, Dick Brown, Quaker City YC, 6:25; 6. Second Heat—1. McNally, 5:21; 2. Edwards, 5:24; 3. Davis, 5:26; 4. Hi Mac, Robert McMillan, West End YC, 5:49; 5. Brown, 6:58.

Points—McNally, 5:00; Edwards, 5:25; Brant, 4:49.

PEN COLORS

FORT MADISON, Ia., — (INS)—Black is still the most popular color in fountain pens. R. H. Whidden, sales chief of the Sheaffer Company says that the modern passion for pastels is reflected more markedly in the bright and informal colors of automatic pencils.
